Though William Schley Howard and Paul Carpenter, defense lawyers, had stated they had 80 witnesses under subpoena, not one was called.

Carpenter and Howard emphasized to "casonable doubt" of Melton's guilt in their talks to the jury, while Solicitor General John A. Boykin and Massistant Solicitor E. E. The jury fixed the sentence at from one to two years and recommended that it be treated as a misdemeanor. The jury did not find him guilty of larceny of a car, upon which charge he was also indicted.

bill of sale exhibited by Melton were all written and signed by Melton himself.

Melton was arrested early this year when the car, stolen from a representative of a New Lork publishing house, was found in his garage.

Says Defendant Is "Cox."

"There sits Will Cox, from whom Melton said he got this car," Andrews told the jury, pointing to the policeman on trial.

"Will Cox and Melton are one and the same person," he asserted.

Howard and Carpenter declared no proof had been offered by the state to the effect that the car was actually stolen, contending the publishing house salesman was intoxicated when he lost it and did not remember even where he had left the machine. Boykin and Andrews stressed the dates of a license application made in 1935 showing it was dated only five days after the car was reported stolen and five days after the bill of sale was dated.

Only One Count Possible.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy, presiding, instructed the jury they could not find Melton guilty of both counts in the indictment on which he was tried. That if he were found guilty of larceny of the car, he would not be guilty of receiving stolen goods.

Assistant Solicitor Andrews told the jury, during his argument, that a law enforcement officer, charged with the duty of protecting the property of others, should be given a more drastic sentence than an ignorant person having no advantages in learning right from wrong.

White, chairman of the public buildings committee of city council, signed a formal request for the sum.

The petition also bears the sanction of Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia WPA administrator, and other officials of the national government in Atlanta and Georgia. White predicted the sums needed to complete the work already begun will be forthcoming from the recent $1,500,000,000 federal relief appropriation.

Already the government has made eral relief appropriation.

Already the government has made $190,000 available for the work, and the city has contributed $24,000. If the additional sums are allocated, the federal government will have expended $436,000 in the work.

White yesterday asserted that new seats, draperies and installation of the pipe organ will cost the city approximately $50,000 more.

"When the job is done, Atlanta will have an auditorium which will compare favorably with any in the south," White said. "We should feel very friendly to the federal government for its aympathetic attitude toward Atlanta."

Average Expenditures Sought in Survey Made in 14,000 Interviews.

Approximately 14,000 Atlanta families have been questioned regarding expenditures for food, clothing, fuel, transportation and several other items by representatives of the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, as a part of the nation-wide study being made of consumer purchases, it was revealed eyesterday in a report by Glenn W. Sutton, southeastern regional director of the survey.

As a result of the study many Atlanta families report they have a clearer understanding of the distribution of their incomes, according to the difference of the survey.

The study was begun here in March, with 360 persons employed on the project. Each interviewer has been placed under oath to protect all confidential information and has been given certified credentials from the labor bureau, which will be shown on request.

Sutton said families are being selected in such a way as to provide a representative group from each community and each occupation, and the subset of the survey.

CARELESSNESS-

that often brings UNHAPPINESS

YOU may know girls like the one on the left—at home, unhappy, while others are out enjoying life.

Often they are victims of ill health that results from unwise dieting - from eating meals that lack sufficient "bulk" to provide needed internal exercise.

Common constipation results. Too often it isn't regarded as serious. Yet doctors will tell you that constipation can slowly undermine your health, leading to discomfort, lowering of bodily resistance, and disease.

Don't neglect constipation. Usually it is due to lack of "bulk" in the foods you eat. When it is, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a safe and pleasant corrective. Scientific tests in leading universities have shown that this delicious ready-to-eat cereal supplies the "bulk" needed to provide regular elimination.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture in the body, forming a soft mass that gently cleanses the intestinal walls. It does not break down in the system as does the "bulk" in many fruits and vegetables. So it is often more effective.

Isn't it better to use this natural laxative food in place of patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN oftener.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all" - but it does correct common constipation. It is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or cook into appetizing muffins, breads, waffles, etc. ALL-BRAN has a tempting nut-sweet flavor. Eat it regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

TIRED? WASHINGTON, June 4.—The main heavily suspended inner animation about the Cleveland convention concerns what Senator Borah is going to do. Nearly everyone in Washington knows, but no two agree.

The most general expectation here is that he will fight to the last convention ditch and then be trampled to his political death in it. In fact, he has told some of his intimates within the last few days that he is tired of public life; that there is nothing interesting for him to do with another senate term; that he would like nothing better than to carry his fight against the republican old guard right up to an illogical conclusion and then retire to practice law in Boise and Washington, with the record made.

Fortifying this impression, there is supposed to be a stack of letters a foot high on his desk. He has shown them to several callers.

These are said to reflect the popular reaction to his last radio broadcast, challenging the party influence of Messrs. Hilles et al.

Then there is the personal angle. It often dominates the acts of statesmen, but rarely is mentioned publicly.

The Idahoan is said to have had unfortunate personal experiences with some of the lesser Landon leaders. These experiences are supposed to have been almost as unsatisfactory to him as the California Landon situation was to Mr. Hoover. At any rate, they left him cold, if not embittered, against the Landon candidacy.

Feelers have been put out inviting him to write the platform, and he has declined. Similar overtures looking toward the possible selection of his friend, Senator Vandenberg, as vice presidential candidate have failed to bring an encouraging response from

And all the while his silence and evasions have tended to build up the rumors that he may take a walk, may side with President Roosevelt, and do everything except play ball. In fact, the threatening mystery of his own position is largely of his own making.

LOGIC Those who really know Mr. Borah, and what he is after, believe the Borah situation will not work out as threatened.
Fundamentally his political interests have been two-fold: First, in his principles; second, in his party. He frequently has let republican presidential candidates lean on him in furtherance of those two interests. Just now the principles in which he is interested are nationalism and anti-monopoly. No other important factions of the party are against those two things. There will be no difficulty about that. His secondary interest is to defeat the Hilles crew. The accomplishment of this is not simple. But he cannot do the Job alone, or by acting out any of the rumors now current.

His best bet, obviously, is to come to some agreement with people who can help him, and those who can help him most, apparently, are the Landon people. Unless something slips, you may look forward to public indications of such a development at Cleveland before the time arrives for nominating speeches, as previously predicted. SPLIT? It escaped notice at the time, but in the relief debate, the other day, Senator Borah spoke rather more harshly of Senator Vandenberg than is customary for a political foster-father addressing his adopted candidate. It happened twice.

Upon the first occasion, Mr. Borah directly challenged Vandenberg's m. Somewhat sarcastically he asserted that the Michigander had unwittingly emasculated his own, relief amendment by agreeing to: a compromise with the democrats.

Later on, the Idahoan seemed to question the Michigander's judgment. He said a second Vandenberg amendment was opposite to the correct approach to the problem at issue.

Senators who have gone back to look at the record of the debate are invinced that this was no family quarrel. In a way it seemed to them to denote a change in the Borah-Vandenberg political relationship, a hint, perhaps, that the Idahoan is not interested in Vandenberg presidentially, or vice presidentially.

RATING Standing of the vice presidential candidates was surmised by a most authoritative source the other day as:

1. Vandenberg. (His friends apparently speak for him in saying he will not take it, but nobody believes them.) 1. Vandenberg. (His friends apparently speak for him in saying he will not take it, but nobody believes them.)

2. Senator Steiwer, of Oregon, the keynoter. (He has a respected following among veterans' organizations, and elsewhere.)

3. Ex-Governor Lowden, of Illinois. (He would be first if he would take it.)

4. George Peek, Congressman Wadsworth, Senator Hastings, former Senator Edge. (All of their chances are not considered very good.) Those who are talking up Lowden as the vice presidential candidate hereabouts tell an interesting story of why he declined the vice presidency in 1924 after being nominated by the convention. They say that Lowden was sharply irritated by the wording of the invitation he received from the chairman of the convention, Frank Mondell, who was not in favor of Lowden. They say that, if the invitation had been couched in more inviting language, it would have been (Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon.)

Tax, NEW YORK, June 4.—
One hears harsh criticism of the income tax from persons found guilty of earning their living in private industry, but, in justice to this thriving institution, it should be pointed out that the law has moments of great generosity. The employes of the federal government are exempt from state generosity. The employes of the federal government are exempt from state income taxes. The employes of states, couties and cities are exempt from the federal tax. Not only that, but certain state officials drawing big salaries out of the kitty provided largely by the income taxes of their fellow citizens are exempt from both state and federal assessments on their pay. The governor of New York, for example, heads a long list of high-salaried public officials who do not have to pay any tax on their public salary.

to pay any tax on their public salary. The governor gets $25,000 a year, a figure which would make a marked man of him if he were working for a private employer. But his is what is private employer. But his is what is known as a constitutional office so his $25,000 a year is all his own. The lieutenant governor, at $10,000 a year, enjoys the same immunity and so do the judges of the court of appeals, the appellate division, the supreme court, the court of claims, the court of special sessions and the surrogates. These learned and public-sparited ornaments of the state government draw from $15,000 to $22,500 a year and keep it all, whereas a single-banded clerk or mechanic employed by a busines firm at $100 a month is expected to shower down to month is expected to shower down to both the national and state treasuries. The members of the New York legislature receive $2,500 a year or roughly twice as much for their part-time work as the tax-paying $100-a-month man, but they, too, are constitutional officers and thus exempt. Floridans Few states have income Taxless. Tax laws up to this time so the state, county and municipal employes con-stitute the most favored class. They are all exempt from the federal tax, whereas comparatively few federal employes are stationed in states where the exemption means anything to them. Federal men in New York and Massachusetts, for example, are exdisastants, for example, are ex-cused from state assessments, but a federal employe in Florida has no spe-cial advantage because Florida has no state tax. But the public servants of the Florida community and its subdi-visions are excused from paying any-thing to the national government. They pay no income tax at all.

The state, county and municipal job-holders in more or less permanent positions throughout the country far outnumber the federal personnel if you disregard the armed forces and you disregard the armed forces and the relief-work people whose pay is not enough to qualify for returns any-way. I have seen their number esti-mated at 5,000,000, a general figure, but with a reasonable sound, never-theless. Probably a good proportion of them do fall below the federal fig-ure, but one should not minimize the human quality of the income tax law on that account. There are still mil-lions of judges, school teachers, commissioners, mayors, aldermen, police-men, firemen, governors, attorneys general, prosecutors, treasurers, sher iffs and patiots of a hundred other politicians when they were writing the income tax laws. The list is much too long to undertake here, but if you have a current world almanac turn to the chapter on state and municipal salaries in New York, read the roster of jobs ranging from $40,000 a year down to $10,000 and reflect upon the sunshine which is let into the lives of thousands of patriots by that kindly provision which exempts them from the federal tax and in many cases from the state as well. The patriots of the New York legislature, themselves forbidden to enjoy the citizen's right to pay and pay, are not niggardly, however. This year they have doubled the honor of citizenship in the empire state with an increase of 100 per cent in the tax. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.)

Huxley's Schooling. Thomas Henry Huxley was born in Ealing, England, in 1825. Like Horace Mann, he had little formal education. He himself said, "I had Horace Mann, he had little formal education. He himself said, "I had two years of a pandemonium of a school (between 8 and 10), and after that neither help nor sympathy in any intellectual direction till I reached manhood," When he reached manhood, he had already begun the career as researcher in biology which was to make him are cutstending fluxes in science. searcher in bloody which was to make him an outstanding figure in science. Like Mann, he exerted a notable in-fluence on popular education, but he warred on scholastic methods which wearied the mind in merely taxing the memory. He saw physical training as most important task of schools.

1832. He was a Nebraska newspaper editor who foresaw nearly 50 years before anybody else the inevitable drouths, dust storms, eroded acres etc., which must follow if all the west's trees were cut and all its sod plowed under. He originated the idea of an Arbor Day, and as state secretary of agriculture persuaded the legislature to put it in the calendar. Most other states now observe Arbor days on Fridays, but Nebraska plants its commemorative trees on Morton's birthday.

One Man's Liberty Ends Where It Steps on Another's Feet

By ROBERT QUILLEN. A writer in the New York Post contends that tolerance does not exist in America because people are not permitted to do as they please.

His error lies in the assumption that tolerance requires anarchy.

The dictionary defines tolerance as putting up with something that is not approved, but common sense must interpret the definition in the light of experience.

A tolerant community, for example, will make no effort to interfere if a congregation of "holy-rollers" hire a hall and hold nightly revels.

The tolerant citizen, hearing about these goings-on, may feel a deep disgust; but he will say to himself: "They have the right to do as they please, and it is none of my business."

But if the hall is in a residence neighborhood and frenzied shoutings.

disturb the tolerant citizen's sleep, his rights are transgressed and he suffers injury. He then has every right to interfere, for tolerance does not require enduring a harmful nuisance.

The difference between the tolerant and the intolerant is that the intolerant feel qualified and ordained to set other people right. They cannot tend to their own business and let others alone. If a neighbor's behavior displeases them, they yearn to suppress him or throw him in the hoosegow, though his activities neither injure nor concern them in

The tolerant person, on the contrary, feels no desire or inclination to interfere with anybody's behavior, no matter how much it offends his taste, so long as it does no hurt to him or his rights.

The most tolerant nation must suppress certain people during a war. Whether the war is right or wrong, once the troops have been sent to the front, they must be supported.

The peace-lover who advocates strikes is trying to shut off their supplies, tie their hands, and expose them to slaughter. That is the basest of treachery, and the government that tolerates it becomes a party to the

NEW YORK, June 4.—(UP)—

Nicholas Murray Butler, a power in the republican party for two generations and himself a perennial presidential possibility, tonight passed over the entire field of active republican candidates and picked former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, as his choice for the nomination.

PARIS, June 4.—(UP)—The Hapsburgs will be restored to the throne of Austria under the armed protection of Italy, reports reaching the new French government tonight said.

From sources abroad, Premier Leon Blum heard that the following political developments may occur simultaneously within the next few days:

1. Restoration of the Hapsburgs coincident with a declaration by Premier Benito Mussolini that Italy will defend the movement.

2. Italian mobilization along the Austrian frontiers if the Little Entente has warned repeatedly that restoration of the Hapsburgs will mean war. Schuschnigg is understood to be favorably disposed toward re-establishing the Austrian imperial house.

Archduke Otto, chief pretender to the throne of Austria, is in exile at Steenockerzeel castle, Belgium, with his mother, the Empress Zita.

Observers, commenting on the reports, said his restoration might provide the best basis for a truce between Starhemberg, whom Schuschnigg recently ousted as codictator.

Government officials said the source of their information indicated that preparations for such sensational developments are being completed during Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's current visit to Italy.

The plans allegedly were laid during the Italian guarantees as will be afforded to be favorably disposed toward re-establishing the Austrian imperial house.

Complete Text of Larsen Speech Delivered at Swainsboro Fete

SWAINSBORO, Ga., June 4.—The speech of Judge W. W. Larsen, of Dublin, opening his campaign for governor here today, follows in full: Home folks of Swainsboro and Emanuel county, friends, fellow citi-ens, ladies and gentlemen:

This occasion marks my initial public appearance as candidate for governor of Georgia. Naturally, I open my campaign in Swainsboro and Emanue, my old home and county, among friends and ioved ones, who have always promoted my interest.

ones, who have always promoted my interest.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is the greatest dynamic force in America today. He will be nominated for the presidency by the democratic party in convention assembled at Philadelphia June 17, and at the general election November next, he will again be elected president of the United States. At the same time, Wash Larsen will be elected governor of Georgia, and you may therefore rest assured that on and after my inauguration, he state of Georgia will fully co-operate with our national administration. fully co-operate with our national administration. In the language of a great American whose words will never die: 'If this be treason, make the most of it.'

the most of it.

Always Been Democrat.

I have always been a democrat,
I have consistently supported the democratic party and never failed to vote for its nominees. I am not the candidate of any faction or interest, I respect the rights of them all, and when elected, I shall, so far as right and proper, serve them all. I have convictions, strong convictions, gained through years of thought and experience. I would not sacrifice these principles and convictions to be elected governor of Georgia upon principles in which I do not believe. I fight for any principle in which I believe. I concede to every person the same right. I may not believe in what you say, but in the language of a great author, "I would die that you have the right to say it." This is the principle of freedom and of free speech. Upon this rock I build my political destiny and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Georgia is called the Empire state of the south, and yet there is much and proper, serve them all. I have of the south, and yet there is much to be done in the development of its resources to justify the name. Geor-gia is far from self-sustaining. In manufacture, industrial, diversiit is great, but not nearly so great as we want it to be or as it can be by the inauguration of a program of state policies having as a basic foundation he fullest development of all its inherent wealth. Our rural and urban communities should be brought into line with the progressive environment of other states. Home ownership should be promoted to the fullest extent and the agricul-Home ownership should be promoted to the fullest extent and the agriculture of the state should be made to become profitable to those who engage in it. The standard in both urban and rural population should be made the equal, if not the best of any state over which the flag of our nation floats.

Co-operation Needed.

But, my friends, Georgia cannot accomplish hese things nor truly be an Empire state with its citizens divided into jealous, political warring an Empire state with its citizens divided into jealous, political warring factional groups. Factions always endeavor to bring one another into disrepute and the dominant faction usually functions for the benefit of its own group. A divided Empire cannot stand nor can the citizens of such an empire be prosperous or happy. In unity there is strength; in division, eakness and disaster.

Some few years ago before we divided into factional groups, comparatively speaking, we were truly an empire. What are we today? I offer a few concrete illustrations which may enable you to determine. The census of 1910 gave Georgia an increased population and one additional groups.

increased population and one additional congressman; that of 1920 showed an increased population almost sufficient for additional representatives; but by 1930 the census showed such a great decrease of pop-ulation that we lost two representa-Cause of Decrease.

You may say this was due to the boll weevil. Ravage of weevils was just as great in Alabama, Tennes-see and South Carolina as in Georsee and South Carolina as in Georgia. Yet these states lost one congressional representative each, while we lost two. The weevil swept North Carolina. Yet that state forged ahead of us in population and gained one representative while we lost two. Hurricane, panic and wee-vil invaded Florida; yet that state gained a congressman while Georgia gained a congressman while Georgia lost two. Compare these states further with Georgia, and what do we find? Florida for the past few years has advertised its resources, chief of which is refreshing sunshine climate, and with one-half of the population of Georgia she pays to the federal government more income tax than does the state of Georgia.

About the close of the last century, some 35 years ago, the gospel of love and goodwill that was preached by the immortal Grady began to wane. Our people fought among themselves. The factions became so powerful and the war so great that we neglected internal development. About the same time our sister state, North Carolina, then neither so populous nor so wealthy as Georgia, began a drive for internal developments. Cotton manufacturing enterprises, more than a hundred in one county, were established: tobacco factories were than a hundred in one county, were established; tobacco factories were established; water powers were de-veloped and the state soon became populous and prosperous. Now Georgia, with 7,000 square miles more territory, has 400,000 less pop-ulation.

compare the wealth and federal revenue contributions of Georgia with those of North Carolina. We find revenue paid by Georgia in round numbers is $32,500,000; that of North Carolina $283,700,000. Georgia's per capita contribution to the federal government is $11.18, and the per capita contribution for North Carolina is $85.96. These are substantially the so-called New Deal contribution for the two states. Again it will be seen that Georgia contributes approximately $11 per capita and received $14; North Carolina contributes approximately $50 per capita and received $14. North Carolina contributes approximately $50 per capita and received $10.

What North Carolina and Florida have done can and should be accomplished for Georgia. Induce them to cease wraning, forget factional war, and strive for the development of our state. If this is done, in a few years, all will be well.

Under the leadership of such emi-

Under the leadership of such eminent scientists as Dr. Herty, why should not Georgia become the greatest paper producing state in the Union? We have an inexhaustible supply of excellent marble and granite. We have the finest clays in America, and one of the best ceramic schools in the nation. Why should we continue to ship our raw products into the north for manufacture? We produce nearly 57 per cent of all the naval stores products in America; we have oils, ochres, and every ingredient for paint. Why should Georgia not become the leading paint producing state in the nation? We have a great supply of sand and other ducing state in the nation? We have a great supply of sand and other things necessary for the manufacture of glass. Yet not even a bottle is manufactured in the state. Why should we not supply our own markets and other near-by with such wares? No other state in the Union is better supplied with natural resources and facilities for the manufacture and disposition of products into the domestic and foreign markets than is Georgia. The sunshine of opportunity is as bright in Georgia as it is anywhere else. We need gia as it is anywhere else. We need only to realize that God helps those who help themselves and that the major problems of Georgia must be solved by its own citizens.

Planning Commission.

When elected governor, I shall advocate these things, taking advantage of these opportunities for developing Georgia. By appropriate legislation I would organize a planning and development commission. The cost would be small. Many good men and women of exercisers and men and women of experience and ability would gladly come to the capitol occasionally in an advisory capacity to aid in planning a definite program for Georgia. Such an or-ganization might greatly aid our gen-eral assembly in the preparation of a genuine constructive program for Georgia.

We might use the Farm Bulletin as a means for advertising our chief plans, our state's opportunities for agriculture, the raising of livestock, our wonderful resources, our oppor-tunity for manufacturing, our low-priced, productive lands, small bond-ed indebtedness and send these bulletins into other states of the nation. In this way we might greatly increase the wealth and population of our state. Thus we would oe able our state. Thus we would be able to increase our money supply for support of state institutions and do so without increasing the tax burden upon our people. In other words, we would do just what progressive merchants do, endeavor to increase volume of business and not the cost of the article sold. Such will be my policy as governor.

Tax Exemptions.

The planning and development commission might recommend to the general assembly the passage of a constitutional amendment. As an in-ducement for such development to the people in Georgia and those of other states, we might so amend our constitution as to permit an exemp-tion from all taxes, whether state, county, or municipality for a term of years for natural and artificial persons, residents or non-residents of the state, who would enlarge or in-augurate, and operate manufacturing plants of general or stipulated char acter within the state. Our present constitution only permits tax ex-emption from levies made by county and municipalities by natural and artificial persons resident of the artificial persons resident of the state. My thought is that the state should also be empowered to participate in such tax relief and that our state would greatly benefit by bringing persons and capital from other states into our midst.

Tobacco has become one of the greatest farm products in Georgia. We produce annually more than 60,000,000 pounds, yet under terms of our present constitution no county or municipality is permitted to relieve from tax any tobacco factory which might wish to operate in our midst, from tax any tobacco factory which might wish to operate in our midst, and this is true whether such factory be local or foreign. A constitutional amendment and provision for advertising such as I have described, I believe, would bring to the state many manufacturing enterprises which we do not now have and otherwise may never be able to obtain. Of, course, any constitutional amendment authorizing the state and non-residents to participate in such program dents to participate in such program would have to be ratified by the peo ple and any amendment thereafter made to authorize a county or muSwainsboro Hears Larsen Give Platform as Candidate for Governor

In this connection I desire to say that I favor reduction of tax on gasoline. Gasoline has become a necessity and the tax has become too burdensome upon the people of Georgia. More than one-third of the price of gasoline is tax and this tax is paid by every person whether an owner of a car or not. This tax enters into transportation of commodities, and is, therefore, found in every cup of coffee we drink and every article we purchase.

Pay Limitation.

I favor annual sessions of the general assembly with the length of the session long enough for transaction of all business—perhaps it might be best to require performance of all work without limitation as to the length of the session. I would pay each member $500 per annum, instead of the $490 now received, and fix the amount of compensation in the constitution so members could not vote additional compensation to themselves. Such an arrangement themselves. Such an arrangement will guarantee completion of neces-sary legislation and protection to the state. It will also give to the genstate. It will also give to the general assembly dignity, power, and authority to legislate. It would prevent the blocking of legislation, and enable members to do what the people want. Until such legislation is enacted, I shall insist that tax bills and other legislation necessary for operation of the state be given legislative professore.

"We should remember that our forefathers provided in the constitution for three separate, distinct tution for three separate, distinct branches of the government. The legislative, the judicial and the executive. This they did in the light of experience and for the purpose of being sure that no one man should take charge of Georgia and administer its affairs. What we need and must have is a rule of the people to whom the state belongs.

And to this and the general assembly should be authorized to meet at any time upon petition signed by bly should be authorized to meet at any time upon petition signed by two-thirds of the membership of each house for the purpose of impeachment of any officer of the state.

Highway System.

Twenty years ago, when I first became a candidate for congress, I announced in favor of a highway construction program upon the basis of state and federal participation. It was made a part of my platform. While in congress I was for many years a member of the highway committee and aided in the formation of most of our present national highway legislation. By inclination I am deeply interested in highway condeeply interested in highway con-struction and from experience I feel that I know something of the prob-

I am convinced that our primary road system is sufficiently advanced in Georgia that we can and should immediately take into the state sysimmediately take into the state sys-tem all so-called county site to coun-ty site roads. Thus the state would relieve the several counties of keep-ing up such roads and enable the counties immediately to begin con-struction of farm to market roads. In this way, every farmer in Georgia should soon have a good road from farm to market, to church and to school

I believe the state should be liberal in awarding contracts to county au-thorities for the construction of all such state roads as they are equipped and desire to build, especially is this true as to grade construction. I be-lieve our state should be divided into at least five highway districts, each represented by one commissioner resident of that district, and elected by the district. Such system would tend Opposes Federal Tax. Opposes Federal Tax.

The federal government should retire from the gas tax field. This tax was first put on by the federal government on grounds of emergency, but I do not believe any national emergency now exists that justifies it. I am personally acquainted with most members of congress; when elected governor I will be a member of governor's conventions and thus believe I would be able to render efficient service in securing federal reduction. If this cannot be done I will next direct attention to a reduction of the state gas tax.

The Smith-Lever act created for the nation its extension service, and the nation its extension service, and is perhaps the most constructive piece of legislation ever given to agriculture. The Smith-Hughes bill agriculture. The Smith-riughes bin provided the opportunity for a voca-tional training in agriculture. Under the provisions of these acts the ex-tension service of Georgia has become one of the best in the nation and one of the best in the nation and many of our young men have been given vocational training. With these advantages and the realization that both Senator Smith and Congressman Hughes were Georgians, it becomes very difficult to explain why Georgia, with such productive lands and favorable climate should import and favorable climate should import into the state annually approximately $50,000,000 more of agricultural food products than she produces and ships into other states. Extension Service. I have practical experience in agri-culture, gained in actual labor on the farm, and from farm ownership; culture, gained in actual labor on the farm, and from farm ownership; I served many years on agricultural committees in congress. I was a member of the board of trustees of State College of Agriculture, and, therefore, I believe, as governor, I can be instrumental in greatly reducing the amount of agricultural imports into Georgia. I shall spare no effort to do. I shall co-operate in every way possible with the extension service and I shall endeavor to see that the state department of agriculture gives full co-operation also.

Due recognition should be given to the women of Georgia in selection of persons for occupancy of official places in the state. They now cast about 40 per cent of the ballots polled in the state, on an average, have as clear conception of our state problems as do our male population, and yet they have practically no management of the state's affairs. As governor, I shall give due recognition to women.

The affairs of the state should be operated upon the basis of strict economy. No obligation should be created until funds are provided for payment of same. All laws neces-sary to finance the state should be given preferential status in legal progiven preferential status in legal pro-cedure and when such laws are not in action within the time prescribed for length of the session, members of the general assembly should be re-quired to remain in session without extra compensation until laws are enacted. Under present conditions, a large portion of all funds spent in Georgia are contributed to it by the federal government. When I become governor. I shall co-operate with the governor, I shall co-operate with the federal administration and secure for federal administration and secure for the state every advantage to which it may be entitled. I realize that there are many things to be done for the state, which the President of the United States and the federal admin-istration, however willing, cannot do for it. There are many problems which should, and must be solved by the people of the state and I, as governor, shall spare no effort to see that our state matters are prop-governor, shall spare no effort to see that our state matters are properly and efficiently administered.

Removal Commission.

The citizens of the state should be, and are the supreme power in it. The election of officers to administer state affairs is one of the citizens' most sacred rights, and no one person should have authority to remove from office any person without authority of the general assembly, and it should be upon recommendation of a commission, duly authorized by law. When the general assembly is not in session, removal authority should be exercised by the governor only upon recommendation of a commission. Such commission should be created by the general assembly, and should perhaps, be composed of the attorney general, secretary of state, comptroller general, treasurer and secretary of agriculture.

al of anyone from office when the general assemly was not in session, he should be required to communi-cate such fact to the commission, and the commission should immediately cite such person to show cause why removal should not be had. The com-mission should hear and consider evi-dence, both for and against removal, dence, both for and against removal, and should report its findings to the govern. If the majority of the commission should recommend removal, the person should be removed by the governor immediately, and a full report as to the cause of such removal should be reported by the governor to the next meeting of the general assembly. The general assembly, of course, would have full authority to approve or disapprove such removal. approve or disapprove such removal. As governor, I shall endeavor to see that such procedure is followed. Old Age Pensions.

Old Age Pensions.

Specific provision is made in the national security act for payment of old age pensions. This act was passed after my retirement from congress. and therefore, I may not clearly con and therefore, I may not clearly comprehend its provisions, but as I understand, certain specific persons are entitled to pensions not exceeding $30 per month, $15 to be contributed by the state, and $15 by the federal government. Whether Georgia does, or does not, participate in the plan, the state will be required to pay its pro rata part of the tax necessary to support it.

For this and other reasons, I favor this form of old age pensions and

For this and other reasons, I favor this form of old age pensions and will, when I become governor, recommend adoption of a constitutional amendment necessary to participation in the plan. Under provisions of the bill, however, Georgia cannot participate in this system until constitutional authority is granted by the general assembly and approved by the people. This apparently cannot be done until November, 1938, and since the limitation for qualification by the state is fixed for not later than July 1, 1937, it will, as I understand the situation, be necessary for congress to amend the bill before this state can participate in not later than July 1, 1937, it will, as I understand the situation, be necessary for congress to amend the bill before this state can participate in the plan. In this connection, I desire to say that I do not favor the so-called Townsend old age pension plan. I feel that many aged people in Georgia have been taken undue advantage of by many who have attempted to promote the scheme.

Last General Assembly.

I also feel that old people have been greatly misled as to activities and efforts put forth in the last general assembly of Georgia looking to passage of an amendment which would enable Georgia to participate in the national social security program. Time does not now permit a full or satisfactory discussion of what happened in the last session of the general assembly of Georgia, and I shall, therefore, refrain from an attempt to lo so at this time, with the promise that I may do so at a later date, in which event I will endeavor to see that the press gives a proper account of my position on this important question.

As a teacher in public schools, and for many years a trustee of the State Teachers College, State School of Agriculture, State Medical College and the University of Georgia, I believe I appreciate the importance of, and have a fair knowledge of, our school situation. When I become governor, I shall endeavor to make adequate provision for the public school system. I shall so far as possible, provide adequate school advantages, with equal opportunity, for every child in the public school system. These public institutions are the only schools which 90 per cent of our children ever attend. To these they are universities and they should be made the best possible. All public schools and institutions of higher learning should be provided with efficient teachers, properly and adequately compensated for services rendered. I shall not overlook the higher inteachers, properly and adequately compensated for services rendered. I shall not overlook the higher in-stitutions of learning. I shall give to I shall not overlook the higher institutions of learning. I shall give to them every encouragement and assistance which the necessities of our youth require, and the funds of the state will permit. The tenure of position for capable teachers should and must be safe. A permanent progressive educational program is essential to the well being of the state, and to this end, adequate funds for support of the system, curriculum sufficient to meet all needs should, and must, be provided.

All public institutions, whether penal, hospital, or eleemosynary, in character, should and will be properly provided for when I become governor of Georgia.

Speaker Rivers professes to be deeply interested in the educational welfare of Georgia. He has made many speeches in which he has asserted that 226,000 children of the state, and within public school age, are not in attendance at school, because they are without books or funds with which to purchase them. I heard him make such a statement. The figures so startled methat I wrote the state school superintendent for verification of it.

I submit for your consideration the figures given me. They disclose that there are of school age not enrolled in public schools, 59-

5.88 negro children, 35,274 white children—94,862 in all. But the superintendent says: "Many of these white children are in parish or parochial schools, which make no report to the state, and therefore, no one knows just how many white children of school age, are out of school."

"I wonder where Speaker Rivers got the idea that the school situation in Georgia is so bad as he would have the people believe it. His figures are evidently the result of a vivid imagination, but since practically all the children, for whom he sheds such crocodile tears, are at home trying to support the family and are not absent from school on account of the lack of books.

Attacks Rivers.

I would like to see every child of school age in school, but it will take more than free books and compulsory attendance laws to secure this. Children who attend school must have something more than books. They must have clothing and food also, and their families must be provided for.

Many of our good people of Georgia are greatly disturbed and are fearful that the incumbent Governor will run for re-election. Realizing the situation, Speaker Rivers and his political allies have been very busy for months running over the state, and endeavoring to convince the people of Georgia that he, Rivers, is the only man in the state who can defeat him. They tell you, however, that this cannot be done if anyone else runs.

Who was responsible for this Talelse runs.

else runs.

Who was responsible for this Talmadge third-term situation? No one is more so than Speaker Rivers. It was he who introduced the resolution in the house on January 14, 1934, providing a four-year term for governor. Did you know that he was not only speaker of the house, but a self-appointed chairman of the rules committee, and that by virtue of this he became in effect dictator of the house as to what legdictator of the house as to what leg-islative matters should be consid-ered by it?

"In his dual capacity as speaker, islative matters should be considered by it?

"In his dual capacity as speaker, and chairman of the rules committee, he either brought the four-year term constitutional amendment befor the house, or he sat as mute and dumb as a dead oyster while others committed this political rape upon the state. Notwithstanding this, he now comes forth with the print of red suspenders still on his back and says: "Let me run. I am the only one who can defeat the present incumbent. If anyone else runs, he cannot be defeated."

Questions Interest.

If Rivers had been satisfied to let the constitution alone, we would today have no such problem. He could easily have provided that the present incumbent should be ineligible for a third consecutive term, but he did not do it. Was this through design or lack of interest? If it be a fair test of his interest in Georgia, or his legislative capacity, are you willing to trust him to manage the affairs of Georgia? Many people in Georgia say they would just as soon have Talmadge as Rivers, and they want neither. They demanded that some person not aligned with either faction, and upon whom they can rely, enter the race. For this reason, I am a candidate and will be the next governor of Georgia.

My friends, by reason of experience and fitness for discharge of duties incumbent on one elected to the position of governor, I do not believe the people of Georgia will make any mistake in electing me to this honorable and responsible position. I want your vote. I will be true to every trust; I was born in Georgia; I love Georgia; every dollar I have saved is invested in Georgia, and when I die, I want you to bury Wash Larsen, as ex-governor, beneath the blue skies of dear old Georgia.

A boiling sun bore down on the courthouse lawn where the crowd gathered. Judge Larsen spoke from a platform in front of the courthouse. What few shade trees were available drew many of the crowd, while many others stood across the streets in the shade of the buildings, hearing the address over the loudspeaker, which worked so well that those several hundred yards away heard the speech as well as those near the candidate.

Leaders on Platform.

Occupying the platform with Judge Larsen were a number of leaders in the section, including Herschel Lovett, Wrightsville and Dublin financier; Senator W. W. Larsen Jr., of Dublin, son of the candidate, and others. Among those on the platform was former Senator Hugh A. Carithers, of Winder.

Judge Larsen was introduced by Attorney Alex Smith, veteran Swainsborc lawyer, who has known the candidat since boyhood.

Mr. Smith stressed Judge Larsen's qualifications for the governorship, citing his 16-year record in congress, and his judicial record, as well as his service to the federal government since leaving congress.

Mary listened in silence and some astonishment to these revelations about the character of the man who had befriended her. Father Mullin picked up a small framed photograph from the desk by the wall. "Here we are—the two of us when we were kids." She took the picture, looked at the cherubic faces of two small boys, then looked up quickly at Father Mullin's chuckling laught. But no one will ever convince me that there's not a whole lot more of good than there is bad in Blackie Norton."

May blackie was driving her in a smart trap back to town, she felt very self-conscious, and Blackie's manner denoted a sort of timidity new to him. In his interesting book, "The Other Side of Divorce," Milton Davis, Massachusetts attorney, shows how people can be married in certain states, and if they cross the border into another state, find themselves living together unmarried. This is due to the difference in marriage laws in the differenc gether unmarried. This is due to the difference in marriage laws in the dif-ferent states. Some states recognize marriages under conditions that are either forbidden or not recognized in other states. So it is hard for some people to know whether they are real-ly married or not. UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

STORY OF SUNLIGHT PICTURES. V-Cameras and Films,

The word "camera" came from an

An Italian named Battista della Porta won fame at Naples four and a half centuries ago. Guesta at his home were taken to a room which was dark except for one small opening which let in sun rays. The rays made pictures on the wall opposite the opening, pictures of trees and houses, but all upside down! Porta and his friends were inside a camera, of a sort.

People in Europe later made boxes, each with an opening to let in sun rays. Lenses were used on some, but not all, of the camera boxes. Men of France, Germany and England found ways to "capture" sunlight pictures, and hold them on plates or paper, Wet plates came into wide use be-cause they caught the image in less time, and the making of photographs grew more widespread. There were troubles with the method, however. A The word "camera" came from an old Greek word meaning "room," and the first cameras were simply dark rooms or tents. It is likely that Arabs on the desert were first to learn that sunlight coming through a hole in a tent could east a picture inside. The picture was upside down, and showed objects outside the tent.

Years later, inventors made dry plates which were far more simple to handle. Pictures were taken on glass coated with bromide of silver or other

The Rev. Hannibal Goodwin, of Newark, N. J., was first to apply for a patent on celluloid film which he invented 49 years ago. George Eastman, a bank clerk, of Rochester, N. Perhaps the greatest thing Eastman did in his young manhood was to devise a new and more simple form of camera. This camera was of small size, and could be carried around with little trouble. Pictures were taken on films inside the camera.

Today the making of cameras and films is a great industry. Millions of camera are in the hands of people who live on every continent of the earth. Thousands of miles of photographic film are made each day.

Current criticisms of the Roosevelt forces were summarized by Farley as "part of the campaign wildness of a party that is devoid of a legitimate is sue, and must beat the bushes for a sandidate while it resorts to generalities and fables for arguments."

The postmaster general, addressing the Masaschusetts democratic state committee's pre-primary consantion, cited statistics, quoted newspaper activities, and reviewed the accomplishments of the last four years.

Almost at the outset, Farley said: "President Roosevelt will be relected by a majority so impressive that nobody in this country can have any doubt as to the faith of our people in the sincerity and ability of the democratic administration to direct our affairs so that the old democratic ideal of the greatest good for the greatest number shall be realized."

Farley said present condition "are not perfect, by any means, but industrial and commercial enterprises, great and small, are making money and the total of popular weil-doing is constantly improving...."

"We would be much farther on our way if it had not been for the incessant clamor of our political foes, who have fought every step of our progress. Their constant effort is to replace the impulse of faith and hope, engendered by the revival of business activity, with the philosophy of fear."

"That," he added, "is what has delayed complete recovery."

That's the romantic question, propounded in the Fox hit, "Private Number," opening today at the Fox theater for a week's engagement, with Robert Taylor, the handsome young star who has set new box office records in "Magnificent Obsession," co-starred with lovely Lo-retta Young.

Filled with youthful love-making, gay romancing, and vivid drama high-fighted with hilarious comedy by the irrepressible Patsy Kelly, "Private Number" is said to be the year's outstanding romantic hit.

State Guidebook, WPA Compiled, To Be Part of 'American Guide'

The State Guidebook, compiled by the federal writers' projects of the Works Progress Administration, has been sent to Washington in "dummy" form for inclusion in the American Guide, Mrs. Carolyn Dillard, state supervisor of the writers' project, said yesterday.

The Georgia volume outlines about two dozen tours over the state with a brief description of the towns passed and the notable features along the roadway, with suggested side tours to places of interest. The condition of the roads is also noted and the mileage between points is given accurately. In order that specific directions and locations might be given, some member of the editorial staff has made each of the tours, and final checking will be completed before the volume is published. Several hundred points of interest in this state have been listed.

Lose Ugly

women everywhere . . . Weight losses of 7 pounds a month have been reported JERE, at last, is a SAFE way to reduce. A way that does NOT call for strict dieting, exercising, or taking drugs. A way that actually increases your mental and physical energy as pounds of ugly fat seemingly melt away. Please read carefully: In a recent test, held under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, 14 people who were gaining at the rate of 134 pounds a month, followed this method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds a person in a single month — WITHOUT STRICT DIETING OR EXERCISING.

What You Do

Now, all you have to do is this: Mix 14 of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with 34 of a glass of water—and drink before each meal, and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—and this is what

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your normal craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to overeat fattening foods—yet you do feel comfortably satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy—and, most important, helps nature to burn up excess fat.

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, Thursday.-New York state certainly did well in its delegation to the Rural Women of the World's conference. I invited this delegation to come over today at 12:30 to see the White House, and when I came down to the east room it was half

Mrs. Morgenthau and Mrs. Wallace were there to help me. I gave a little lecture before we started on all the things we were going to see, because I felt it was impossible to get so many women into any of the smaller rooms at once. After seeing the house I bade them goodbye, finding amongst them many old friends, and feeling very happy to have had a chance to welcome our own state delegation individually.

Afterwards we had lunch on the porch, at which we were joined by Lady Reading, Mrs. Greenway, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Morgenthau. Mrs. Bridgen and Mrs. Young stayed for luncheon also, which pleased me, for they are both working so hard over this conference that I feel when-ever I can get them to rest for a few minutes it is quite a victory. Directly after luncheon I went to receive 36 women from Alabama who are here for the conference and are making a good-will tour of the east. They have worked out a plan for their county which they feel, in co-operation with federal farm rehabilitation, will perhaps prove possible and practical solution for many other southern counties.

They made a careful survey of housing conditions, and have discovered that these conditions are deplorable-many, many homes with no sanitation and in very poor condition. Of course this could be duplicated in county after county in the south and in quite a few other parts

After that, I had the pleasure of seeing Maxwell Hyslop Maxwell, one of the officials of the Cunard Line who came over on the Queen Mary. He is a cousin of mine, so he came down for the day. Then I went to listen to 40 of our New York city tenement dwellers make a plea for the aid of the federal government in slum clearance.

Such tales as they told! Many of the women cried as they heard a man describe how his family was lost in a tenement fire while he was at the high school with the one child now left to him.

Then I talked on camps for women and problems of young people. Finally I visited a friend in a hospital, had a number of people for tea and a few guests for dinner. A busy day and a hot one, also, (Copyright, 1986, for The Constitution.)

The luncheon group were discussing various ways of using strawberries in desserts. Of course there is strawberry ice cream and ice and strawberry shortcake. "I like to serve strawberry sauce with ice cream." "Do you, I never make mine that way. I think I'll have to give it to the family some time soon. My favorite is strawberry pie." Strawberry pie? How do you make that? Does it have a top crust? Mine does not but I frequently put crossed strips on the top, making it a lattice topped pie."

"I never thought of that. I make my pie differently. Would you like to know what I do? The group assented so Frances told her method. "Well, first of all, I bake a pie abell. Then I take fresh berries and hull them after I have washed them. Then I cut them into large pieces and sugar them generously. Let this mixture stand for a little while and then I fold them into large pieces and sugar them generously. Let his mixture stand for a little while and then I fold them into stiffly beaten egg whites that have been sweetened somewhat. I put this into the pie shell and set the whole thing under a low broiler flame about five minutes. Then I serve the pie at once."

"That sounds good to me but I have another method. I bake a pie shell too, Then I make a rich, boiled custard similar to that used to fill cream puff shells. I let this cool and put a thick layer of it into the pie shell. I cover this with a layer of sweetened berries. Over these I put whipped cream that has been sweetened and I serve that cold. Do my family like it? Boy, they almost snatch it away from each other. Talk about a shortcake being called short, because there is never enough and the cook always runs short. This ought to be called short pie.

Contract

World's Champlon Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

THAT VITAL FIRST PLAY.
The number of times that a contract is won or lost by the first play of declarer is amazing.

Apparently, a great many players go on the theory (if such tomfoolery can be dignified by the term "theory") that the first play is in the nature of a preliminary, a sort of quick "warm up." They reach more or less automatically for a card in the dummy before they give the situation in general, or the special problem created by the fore they give the situation in general, or the special problem created by the fore they give the situation in general, or the special problem created by the first play is in the nature of a preliminary, a sort of quick "warm up." They reach more or less automatically for a card in the dummy before they give the situation in general, or the special problem created by the first trick. Next, to establish an entry to the South hand for a lead up to dummy's trump tenace, the king of spades should have been played on the first trick. Next, to establish an entry to the South hand for a lead up to dummy's trump tenace, the king of spades should have been laid down. West would win and might give the partner a ruff in diamonds, but note that in this case South merely would prop his losing diamond on the trick. Now East could not put West on lead except by leading his own remaining pread, and only after a tentative plan of attack has been formulated to play from the dummy. In today's hand the delelarer never could recover the error made on his first play.

West, dealer.

Both lides vulnerable.

Consideration of the bidding by declarer would have hedicated clearly the correct first play.

Consideration of the bidding by declarer would have bend laid, with the acc and cashed his good ten of diamonds of the two top honors (North's hand was testimony to this fact), it was likely that he held a six card suit. West opened the queen of diamonds and no sooner was the dummy spread han declarer reached for the five of than declarer reached for the five of diamonds, winning the trick with the king from his own hand. He then led the singleton spade up to dummy, intending to establish a spade trick for a diamond discard, or if West had the spade ace and didn't put it up, to "steal" a spade trick. But West hopped up with the ace and led the lack of diamonds. Now (too late) declarer saw his error. He had to play dummy's ace or concede the trick. In fear and trembling, the ace was put up and East ruffed. Since the only immediate entry to West's hand could be in the trump suit itself, East propSweepstakes Prize:

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD. Problems of general interest submit-ted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence lavited. Tour name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlants Constitution.

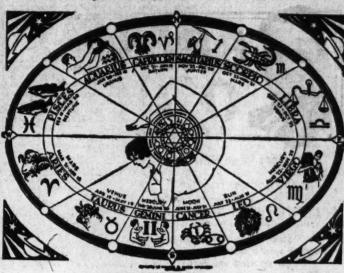

Dear Miss Chatfield: A year ago my younger sister had an operation and came to my home to conaviesce. She was sweet to the children and to my husband, paid her board and I thought my husband was satisfied with the arrangement. Soon I learned he was cheating, taking women to lunch, etc. He said it was because the sister-in-law had separated him from me. His mother knew the whole story. I forgave him and we were like sweethearts once again—but not for long. Then his mother came to live with us and she had to have the children's room. The children came in with me and my husband occupies a cot in the living room. She has other relatives to whom she could go occasionally, including a daughter who is not physicaly able to care for her, but she stays and stays with us. I can't sleep at night for fretting over our predicament. Can't you, in a sweet way, without hurting their feelings, say something to make mothers-in-law think how their presence in the homes of their sons creates problems with husband and wife, and problems in connection wi ththe discipline of the children? A wife's home is really not her home any more after a mother-in-law comes in to tell her how to run it, dren? A wife's home is really not her home any more after a mother-in-law comes in to tell her how to run it, directing, criticising, comparing the way things are done with the way she and her daughters did them. UNHAPPY AND DISCONTENTED.

Answer: One of the cruelest facts of life is that love frequently betrays us into doing the very things that wreck the happiness of our loved ones. One of the chief offenders is the mother of the old school who hangs onto her children like grim death, never relinquishing her right to reign and rule in their hearts and homes. Of course it is painful for a parent to face the fact that the little boy she has borne and reared ceases to be her little boy when he gets married. It is shocking for her to realize that her son whom she adores can live It is shocking for her to realize that her son whom she adores can live more happily without her than with her and that her presence in his home may wreck his marriage. Yet in the natural cycle of life the time comes when she must relinquish her claim on him when and if her claim does violence to his new obligations. There aren't any wives who enjoy

There aren't any wives who enjoy having meddlesome mothers-in-law in their home, directing, criticizing, interfering with the housekeepng, taking a hand in the discipline of the children. The hopeless part of it is that none of these meddlesome mothers-in-law is conscious of what she is doing. Any one of them would heartily agree that a policy of interference in her son's family affairs is against the code of fair play. Yet nine hundred and ninety nine out of a thousand are guilty of the thing they condemn, and they don't know it. The habit of housekeeping is upon them. The habit of being mother and telling the children what to do is firmly fixed. The habit of being head of the works is hard to break. For this reason dire poverty is just about the only excuse for a woman's living with her son and his wife. And even in this case sometimes an institution is the best place for her.

BOBBY BREEN.

The whole country has become interested in Bobby Breen, who was introduced to radio by Eddie Cantor. They have wondered what Bobby looks like and about his screen debut. His first vehicle, "Let's Sing Again," is now being released. It's world premier on Broadway was a sensation. You will enjoy Bobby on the screen, and now you can have his photograph for your movie star album. The portrait is $x10 inches, linen-like finish—just like the seven others comprising the monthly set for June. You can have the whole set of eight photos offered for June if you will follow the instructions contained in coupon which appears in Screen and Radio Weekly magazine of next Sunday's Constitution, a regular feature of The Sunday Constitution.

It happened on an elevator in one of our better-known bank

The elevator was crowded. Very crowded.

But all was peaceful as the little segment of humanity was being dropped to the level desired by the individual members. When suddenly the peace was broken.

"Stop this elevator immediately and let me out of here," said a lady standing near the front of the car. The startled operator stopped his car at the fifth floor.

The door opened. The lady turned and slapped the face of a gentleman who stood just behind her in the crowded elevator. The passengers began to glare at him. His face was red with surprise, embarrassment and fear.

"I really don't know what's the matter," he said. "I really didn't do a thing. Does anyone know what could be the

The car was silent, believing the worst. When up spoke a small boy of four or five years who was standing with his mother.

"Mother," he said in his childish treble, "the lady was standing on my foot and she didn't move when I pulled, so I pinched her."

He who got slapped was so relieved he all but embraced the youngster.

But somewhere there is a young lady who believes in the perfidy of mankind. I hope she sees the story. She really owes her victim an apology.

PECK HAMEL REACTS.

Peck Hamel was operated on yesterday at Wesley hospital. They relieved the Cracker outfielder of his vermiform appendix. The vermiform appendix is something for which the rabbit, or hare, has some use. But mere man hasn't.

They asked Peck Hamel how he felt an hour or so after the operation.

"I feel," he said, "as if I had struck out in the ninth with the bases full."

He probably felt worse. It seems Hamel had been quite sick for several weeks.

Losing the best lead-off man in the league and one of the best fielders isn't the slightest blow the club could have received.

THE NATIONAL OPEN.

Our golf professionals, probably the finest group of professional sportsmen, are in the headlines today.

They have become heroes of sport as have the star performers in baseball, tennis and football. They were not enjoy ing that status a few years ago.

It was not until 1914 the professionals were allowed to use the regular facilities of the clubhouses where the open tournaments were held. Only the amateurs could

It was in 1914 that a Chicago club saw one of the professionals enter the locker room, select a locker and use it. Attendants asked about it. He announced he was there to stay. Their choice was to throw him out. He stayed.

Name was Walter Hagen. He gave the golf professional a place in sport which enabled him to become a real sports figure. Which explains why all the professionals like The Haig.

A WILD AND WOOLLY START.

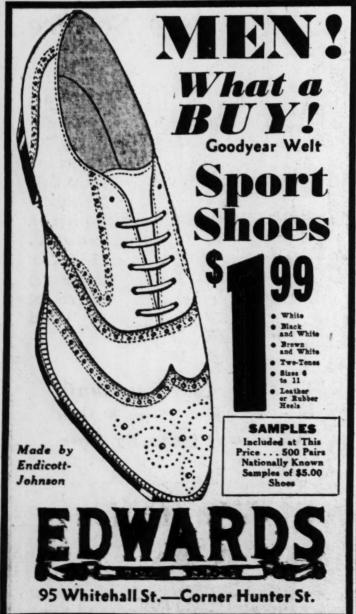

The open field at Baltusrol got off to a rather wild and woolly start yesterday. This should be the year one of the younger set comes through with a victory.

Not that one of the younger set didn't do so last year when Sam Parks won the open title over the Oakmont course. But that went down in the records as an error. They are wagering 100 and 150 to 1 that Sam Parks does not win this year over an easier course.

Sam Parks proved himself to be one of the finest fellows in golf last winter. He went through the winter tournaments, taking it on the chin, so to speak. He won the boys over to his side even if he did win no prize money worth mentioning. They found Parks a great fellow and a good golfer. His victory proved only that anything can happen in golf.

The boys cracked par at Baltusrol yesterday with as much Cracker President Leaves for Nashville; Cy Grant Signed.

By Jack Troy.

President Earl Mann departed last night for Nashville, where he will join the Crackers today and have a talk with Manager Eddie Moore regarding the signing of another outfielder.

Mann signed Arston (Cy) Grant, former Georgia athlete, as a free agent yesterday. Grant, who played in three leagues last year, was signed as a temporary measure.

"We need another outfielder to fill in for the present," President Mann said, "and I have signed Grant for that purpose. I am taking Grant to Nashville with me.

Nashville with me.

Grant played 20 games with Asheville in the Piedmont league, batting .313; he played 24 games with Bloomington in the Three-Eye league, batting .297, and he played 13 games with Albany in the Georgia-Florida league, batting .323, last year.

The Certinals shunted him around, he said, and he was disastisfied with the arrangement. so he got his release.

The principal reason for Mann's trip to Nashville is to determine whether the Crackers need another Big Joe Hutcheson, regular right-fielder last year, is definitely out for three more weeks, it was revealed by Wednesday's examination.

Peck Hamel, crack center-fielder, was operated on for the removal of his appendix yesterday and is doing nicely. Hamel, who had been hitting above .300, is lost to the club for more than a month. The season will be on its last legs when Hamel will be available for duty again. be available for duty again.

It appears that the Crackers must have another outfielder, and Mann knows where to get one. He will talk it over with Moore and may take immediate action.

The Crackers have snapped out of their hitting slump, if performances of the last three games may be accepted as an indication, but they face plenty of trouble from the second-place Nashville club in the series starting tonight.

Derringer Wins for Reds, 5-3; Daffy Dean Is Loser.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(UP)—In the National league, the St. Louis Cardinals lost, 4 to 3, to the Brooklyn Dodgers. Paul Dean, who relieved Winford in the eighth, allowed two runs and became the losing pitcher. The Cards got to Ed Brandt for 10 hits but he kept them well scattered. Winford was going great for St. Louis, having allowed only five hits when removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Singles by Bordagaray, Watkins and Bucher and a sacrifice by Stripp provided the winning tally and enabled the Dodgers to salvage the last of the three-game series.

to salvage the last of the three-game series.

The New York Giants failed to gain on the leading Cardinals because of an 8-to-5 defeat by the Chicago Cubs. Lon Warneke went the full distance, being reached for nine hits, two of them homers by Mel Ott, to chalk up his fifth win of the season. Clyde Castleman was battered from the mound for the seventh straight time, and his successors fared little better in the 18-hit Cub attack, led by Herman and Allen with four each.

A revamped line-up won for the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 5, over the Boston Bees. Traynor had Paul Waner in right field and Bud Hafey on the bench. Waner came through with two of the P'attack' 10 hits. Gus Suhr homered with two on in the first inning to start the attack. It was a victory for Cy Blanton, his second in six starts this year.

Cincinnati's Red returned to fifth place, above the Bees, by taking advantage of Hal Kelleher's wildness for a 5-to-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The Reds came from behind to score three runs off two hits and a pair of walks in the seventh.

Paul Gets Three Hits in Final Game To Make It 11 for 12 During Series.

By Barney Ballard.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 4 .- It was the same old story again today as the hopeless Smokies fell easy victims of Bud Thomas' pitching and the Crackers grabbed the odd game of the series, 7 to 2.

The story being that the Smoky pitching staff, seldom presenting anything of a puzzle to the opposition, continued its form, with Ray Moss being touched for 13 wallops, 7 of which came in the ninth inning. Although the Crackers scored four times in the ninth on seven hits, Manager Petty elected to let him take the punishment.

Aside from that one inning, today's game was much better than the average contest in which the erratic Smokies take a hand. The score was 3 to 1 going into the ninth, which happens to be considerably better than it has so many times in 'he

After Harris' singl in the second and Chatham's one-bagger in the third had been wasted, the Crackers finally counted once in the fourth. Alex Hooks went safe at first when Moss pped Caldwell's perfect throw at first satchel and Harris rapped up against the deep center field the ninth, when the visitors batted all the way around.

Browne led with a single to center Richards pumped another to the same spot. When Chatham lashed out another single to center, Browne came home and Richards stopped at second. Thomas rapped a one-bagger to right, but still Manager Petay elected to leave Moss in there with Moon warming up in the bull pen.

Eddie Moore rapped into a double play, with Chatham advancing to third. From here he checked in on Hill's bingle to right, Harris singled to left, but Lipscomb finally ended the slaughter by graciously hoisting a high fly to Fiarito.

Webb's home run in the ninth was one of the healthiest wallops of the season here, but it made no difference in the outcome, as Mueller, Fiarito and Mauldin went out in order.

The only bright side of the picture from the home side of the fence, and that is a doubtful luster, was the three doubles plays the Smokies turned in during the contest.

Shotmakers not to be lightly rated in the par-equalling bracket included Bill Burke, 1931 open champion: Denly Shute, of Boston, former British open king; Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City's latest gift to professional ranks, and a trio of amateurs, Jimmy McGonagill, of Dallas; Morton McCarthy, of Virginia Beach, Va., and Chuck Kocsis, Michigan's Big Ten champion.

These deuces aided Mangrum to join Runyan at the top. The former Texan dropper a six-footer on the short third and again on the 15th hole, a 10-footer on the 10th. Like Runyan he needed a par four on the home hole for a 68 but faltered and took a five. Clark, whose outgoing 33 shared the day's new record for this half of the course with Vic Ghezzi, featured a series of great recoveries. Twice, on the eighth and thirteenth, he emerged from bunker trouble with shots that put the ball "dead" to the pin, for birdies. His only long put was a 12-footer for another birdie on the fourth.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—(P)— Forecasts rather than facts determined price movements on the cotton market

4 points higher, but price swings were good and trading was active.

At first it appeared that a bearish interpretation of recent weather reports from the east would hold prices under previous closing levels. But when the weather map was posted and showed that only acattered weather stations in north Georgia had received rain and only two points each in North Carolina and South Carolina, the trade reversed its attitude and bought cotton.

After touching a low of 10.68 the October position recovered to a net gain of four points on the day, fin-ishing at 10.80-81. December ended at 10.75 and March at 10.75 bid.

More government nool selling was reported at New York as July held steady around 11.56.

Purchasing came from both the trade and speculative interests. Professionals who expected a drop on the weather in the east were forced to cover. Buying in of hedges in the last old crop month left, also was a constructive feature.

Attention of traders were deviated.

Liverpool cables did not fully meet the local decline of yesterday, but said the local decline of yesterday, but said that unfavorable crop advices were being offset in that market by the early strength in sterling and unsettled political or financial conditions on the continent. There was some buying here early through houses with continental connections which was believed to be connection French financial situation, but the far east was credited with selling and the local market eased shortly after the opening on the hope of showers in the eastern belt. The detailed weather reports were a disappointment to these early sellers, apparently, as the showearly sellers, apparently, as the showers reported were mostly in southern and central Georgia with showers at only a few points in the Carolinas.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Firmness of the cotton market during the spring months was based partly on the increased use of American cotton.10.83 10.86 10.78 10.86 10.84 About one-eighth more was consumed during the crop year and the world-wide carryover is down to 7,000,000 bales. Demand picked up whenever the price was favorably low as compared with that of foreign cotton.

with that of foreign cotton.

Poor growing conditions in late spring also strengthened the market position. The spot price, averaging near 11.60 was about half-a-cent lower than in early June last year. TOMATOES.

In mate canners, according to local reports, were paying growers on contract about the same prices per ton as last season, or sometimes a dollar or two less. Largest price cuts were reported in Maryland, Virginia and I Delaware.

Demand for peanuts during the past month has been much better than a year ago, and yet prices are holding up beter than expected Shipments of cleaned and shelled goods out of the Virginia-North Carolina area during the past month were 40 per cent above a year ago.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

Good demand supported the butter market in late spring. Production is market in late spring. Production is heavy and increasing, but holdings have not piled up in the markets. Dry weather in some dairy sections may slow down the June output. Cheese has been selling well and the rate of production gain is less than expected. Egg prices during May held within relatively narrow limits. Market tone was generally steady to firm. Stocks of poultry in storage in May were less than a year ago and the five-year average.

Attention of traders was devoted almost entirely to the weather in the Carolinas. The French situation had little effect on domestic prices, although Liverpool cabled that the crisis on the continent acted as a speculative detriment to dealings there.

Cottonseed meal declined in most city markets but held relatively firm or advanced at the mill: South Georgia mills quoted 41 per cent protein meal $23 to $23.50 per ton. Linseed meal went higher at the mills and advanced $1 per ton in New York. Homing feed declined around $1 at on at the principal markets but gluten feed held unchanged.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(UP)—
Disgust over the market dullness crept into Wall street today and resulted in light selling that carried prices down as much as two points.

There is nothing in the news—or nothing forecast—which will serve as incentive for fresh buying.

Total volume for the day was only 770,000 shares. Much of the disgust emanates from the brokerage houses where expenses continue high and commissions are dwindling. One big house this week reported that by noon

NEW YORK, June 4.—(P)—Fresh uneasiness over the economic and political tension in Europe was reflected in sharp declines in a number of foreign dollar bonds in the listed market today.

While the general run of domestic corporate obligations managed to hold their own fairly well, the showing was attributed more to the lack of selling than to any other factor because there was a distinct lack of buying support in several issues that were offered in better than average volume.

United States governments leaned to the offside with losses of 1-32d to 8-32d of a point registered by most of the direct treasury and guaranteed issues. Longer term maturities displayed less resistance than others.

Constant spreading of strikes in France and Belgium, coupled with the highly disturbing economic conditions in the former country, intensified nervousness of holders of foreign dollar bonds who have manifested extreme concern over happenings in Europe during the past several months. French 7 1-2s dropped 5 7-8 poins on sales of $9,000, par value; the 7s lost 1 on sales of $7,000; Poland 7s declined 2 7-8 on a single sale, and the 8s lost 4 7-8 on a turnover of $1,000. Japanese 5 1-2s yielded 2 points, also on a good volume.

The Associated Press averages ranged from an advance of .1 of a point in the rails.

Transfers in all bonds totaled $10,654,000, par value, compared with $11,363,000 on Wednesday.

It's so cute to look at and so adorable to wear.

Today's model is cut on overall lines. The soft arrangement of the bodice at the front gives it a more feminine look. The back bodice is cut quite low for sun-tanning. It has attractively shaped pockets.

Coral and navy plaided cottons is altogether darling as the original.

If you want something very young and individual, make the trousers of white crash linen and the bodice, shoulder straps and pockets of nautical blue crash-linen. Combine the blue and white for the belt.

Style No. 661 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 3-8 yards of 39-inch material with 1-8 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Our illustrated home dressmaking spring book will enable you to have smart clothes and more of them for less money. Each step in the making of a dress is shown with illustrated diagrams. Send for your copy today.

Dentist Wins in Suit, Result of Pet's Loss Love for his lost bull terrier led Dr. Green D. Warren, widely known Atlanta dentist, to take actions which led to a $10,000 suit for false arrest against him by S. C. Gibbs, Atlanta lawyer, it developed yesterday in Fulton superior court.

A jury in Judge John D. Hum-phries' division decided the doctor had not had Gibbs arrested ma-liciously and refused to give the lawliciously and refused to give the lawyer any damages.

Six months after Dr. Warren lost his dog, it was brought out in court, he saw a dog in Gibbs' yard he thought was his. He swore out a bail trover in municipal court and Gibbs was held in Fulton tower until he made bond. At the municipal court hearing, Judge Ralph McCelland, presiding, discovered from photographs of Dr. Warren's dog that the foor markings were different from those of Gibbs' pet.
Dr. Warren then withdrew his municipal court proceeding and subsequently Gibbs filed suit, alleging he was arrested maliciously at the instigation of the dentist.
